Ogden North Comment Grid 6_8mh.xlsxOgden North Comment Grid 6_8mh.xlsx

PUBLIC COMMENTS: Ogden North Draft TSP & Lease Public Comment Period: May 4 to June 2, 2010 Public Comment Hearing: May 18, 2010 MODE OF
			COMMUNICATION	COMMENT	CHA RESPONSE
			Email	Section 4.2 of the TSP authorizes the Agent (Interstate Realty Management)	Thank you for your comment. You have accurately stated Section 4.2 of the
	to create a waiting list in the event that no public housing waiting list exists.	TSP.
	Section 4.3 of the TSP refers to CHA's approval of a site-based waiting list for public housing residents to be maintained by "the Agent" (IRM), and describes conditions for the operation of such a waiting list.
Email	CHA is subject to the orders entered in Gautroaux v. CHA, which do not allow	CHA continues to unhold the judicial provision arising out of the Gautreaux
Lillali		, , , ,
		, , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , ,
Interest (BPI)	1
		, ,
	, , ,
	court.
Email	We also question the wisdom of authorizing a site-based waiting list when	CHA does not seek to create a "back-up pool" for the public housing waitlist.
	CHA is on the cusp of opening its own public housing waiting list to 40,000	Rather through the cited provisions, developer/owners are extended the authority to create their own wait list. Both the requiremenst of the Relocations Rights Contract and the guiding principles arising out of the ļ, , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , ,	Gautreaux Order remain the platform upon which the criteria in the TSP is 1 -	based. Through this and other similar provisions CHA seeks to expand as applicants, who waited for years, some even decades on previous CHA	1 , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , waiting lists.
	May 4 to June 2, 2010 g: May 18, 2010 MODE OF COMMUNICATION Email	May 4 to June 2, 2010 IMAGE OF COMMUNICATION Email Section 4.2 of the TSP authorizes the Agent (Interstate Realty Management) to create a waiting list in the event that no public housing waiting list exists Section 4.3 of the TSP refers to CHA's approval of a site-based waiting list for public housing residents to be maintained by "the Agent" (IRM), and describes conditions for the operation of such a waiting list. Email CHA is subject to the orders entered in Gautreaux v. CHA, which do not allow for site-based waiting lists. Therefore, any site-based waiting list would require prior approval from the Gautreaux court. Before supporting such approval, the Gautreaux plaintiffs would first need to be satisfied that specific and detailed monitoring procedures have been put in place by CHA and HUD to ensure that creation and maintenance of the list would not violate Gautreaux goals. We suggest that references to a site-based waiting list be removed from the TSP until CHA has obtained such approval from the court. Email We also question the wisdom of authorizing a site-based waiting list when CHA is on the cusp of opening its own public housing waiting list to 40,000 new families. A site-based list created at this juncture to provide a back-up pool for the public housing wait list could result in a list of families that might never be housed, creating unfair and unrealistic expectations in a potentially needy population, recreating the experience of public housing applicants, who waited for years, some even decades on previous CHA			